

Speaker

Yan-Shen Shan, M.D., Ph.D.

沈延盛 院長

Distinguished Professor and Surgeon
Dean, College of Medicine,
Institute of Clinical Medicine, NCKU
Department of Surgery, NCKUH

The Impact of Tumor Microenvironment on Pancreatic Cancer

YS Shan has completed his MD in 1993. After the residency training in the Department of Surgery, National Cheng Kung University Hospital, Tainan, Taiwan, he also got the PhD in 2004 from Institute of Clinical Medicine, National Cheng Kung University. He was pointed to establish and be the 1st director of Division of Trauma (2011~2016.7), the 1st UGI cancer team convener (2010~2017 12), Director of Clinical Medicine Research Center (2016.8~2019.7) in National Cheng Kung University Hospital. He was awarded as the distinguished professor since 2016 Aug and elected to be chief of the Institute of Clinical Medicine, NCKU from Aug 2017 to Jul 2019. From Aug 2019, He was elected to be the Dean of College of Medicine, NCKU. He has published more than 150 papers in reputed journals and has been serving as several editorial board member of repute. Recent years, he devoted in the translational study of biliary tract cancer, pancreatic cancer, gastric cancer and GIST. He also performed several IIT and attended international trials in stomach, biliary, and pancreatic cancer. Since 2017 May, he also got the grant support from MOST to be the leader PI of TCTC-UGI group in Taiwan and was also nominated as member council of Asian-Ocean Pancreatic Association (AOPA) in 2018.

Professional interests and specialties

- Surgical oncology, Molecular Biology, Tumor Biology (esp Cancer stem cells, and Tumor microenvironment).
- Organ regeneration, surgical infection, and nutrition